General Information

Foreign nationals can settle in Germany as self-employed persons.

The prerequisite is an economic interest or a regional need which has a positive effect of the economic activity and which is secured by equity capital or a loan commitment.

The assessment of the prerequisites depends in particular on the viability of the underlying business idea, the applicant's entrepreneurial experience, the level of capital employed, the impact on the employment and training situation and the contribution to innovation and research. During the examination, the competent authorities at the location of the planned activity, such as the trade authorities, the public-law professional associations and the authorities responsible for professional licensing, are involved.
